Commencement 1984

Saint Joseph's celebrated it's 89th Commencement exercises on April 29, with the awarding of 185 baccalaureate degrees and 2 associate degrees as well as 23 degree candidates.

Co-valedictory addresses were given by Bridget Caston, B.A., Music, of Stow, Ohio and Beth Schroeder, B.S., Accounting / Computer Science, of Ottawa, Ohio. Recipient of the Alumni Board's Senior of the Year award, Dennis Noonan, B.S., Biology-Chemistry, of Covington, Kentucky, also addressed the assembly.

and Chairman of the Peace Pastoral 1983 committee, died January 25 in an auto accident and was posthumously presented an honorary doctor of divinity degree. The degree was accepted by George A. Fulcher, Sr., father of Bishop Fulcher.

Speaking in place of the late Bishop Fulcher, who had been scheduled to present the commencement address, Father Charles Banet, President, urged the class of 1984 to be peacemakers. "Every day — in our families, our neighborhoods, on the job, in our country, yes, even in the world — we either build peace, stand in its way, or actually tear it down by our actions, decisions and opinions." Where issues of peace, justice and human rights are concerned, he said, anyone and everyone can make a difference.

Bishop Fulcher addressed Saint Joseph's students on the U.S. Bishops' Peace Pastoral last November, and Father Banet noted, "here at Saint Joseph's, we have been actively engaged in the promotion of the pastoral letter on peace.

"With aid from the Lilly Endowment, Saint Joseph's will join with six other Catholic institutions in Indiana this year in applying the intellectual gifts of these academic communities and all the educational resources of these colleges to this effort." Father Banet promised that, "next year will be a year of scholarship toward peace. We place this year under the guidance of Bishop Fulcher, a new member of the community of saints, a friend of Saint Joseph's College, and a person who gave his life while acting as a creator of a better world.

Peace is the major issue of our day, and if we do indeed desire peace in our world, we must work for justice in each and every one of our social, political and economic systems," Father Banet stressed.

He told the graduates this was not a commencement but a continuation toward new educational horizons. Saint Joseph's general education program and its various major fields of study are "intended to give students both the career development / empowerment to assume a position of influence in the world and to develop in them a sense of commitment to human values and rights," Father Banet said.

There is no gap between the undergraduate experience at Saint Joseph's and the real world, he said, because "you have been studying the real world for all eight semesters. Your awareness of the world — the whole world — and your imagination, skills and wisdom to cope with that world as it is and as it should be have been growing all along."

Father Banet concluded, "peace be with you, go in peace to take your place in the world and continue your prayer: Lord, make me an instrument of your peace."

Downard Appointed Dean

Father Charles Banet announced the appointment of Dr. William L. Downard '63 as Dean of Academic Affairs, effective July 1. Dr. Downard succeeds Dr. Robert Garrity who resigned the position to serve full time as professor of English and philosophy.

Dr. William L. Downard

Dr. Downard has been teaching history at Saint Joseph's College since 1969. In 1976, he succeeded Father Donald Shea as Chairman of the History Department; he received the Edwin G. Kaiser Saint Joseph's Faculty Award in 1981. He served as acting vice president for academic affairs during the fall semester of 1982. Dr. Downard is the author of two books on brewing and distilling industries and wrote a number of articles published in scholarly journals. In 1983, he was selected by the American Council on Education as an ACE Fellow in the 1983-84 ACE Fellows Program in Academic Administration. The fellowship assigned him to a number of other colleges where he participated in task oriented administrative activities designed to prepare him for responsible positions in academic administration.

He received his M.A. degree from the University of Cincinnati in 1964 and a Ph.D. from Miami University, OH in 1969.

College Gains National Recognition

During the past several months, Saint Joseph's College has gained national attention in recognition of its distinctive Core program, high standards and reasonable tuition costs.

It has been featured in the March, 1984 issue of Money magazine as one of ten top colleges in the country in terms of academic standards which tuition costs run 25-50% less than many schools with more prestigious names. The article points to Saint Joseph's approach to education from a Christian perspective and stresses its Core curriculum.

A report released by the National Institute of Education which appeared in a recent issue of the Chronicle for Higher Education cited the college's Core curriculum as one of 145 "notable programs, promising approaches, and other improvement efforts" undertaken within the last decade by a select group of 120 colleges and universities. The report, compiled from materials from the National Commission on Excellence in Education, was prepared to enable colleges and universities that have made "fragmented efforts" to improve their programs to contact institutions with successful experiences.

Phonathon Raíses $172,500

Thanks to the generous response by you, the Alumni, and to the dedicated efforts of students, faculty, administrators, and members of the Board of Trustees and the Alumni Association Board of Directors, the first phonathon held March 19-23 by the college in several years achieved record results.

For five days, 30 phones were staffed by about 200 volunteers, producing $172,500 in firm pledges in support of our National Endowment for the Humanities challenge grant to endow the Core program. Of all the persons contacted, 32 percent pledged with an average gift of $148. $1.2 million must be raised by May 31, 1986 in order to keep the $400,000 allocated to it by NEH and the $172,500 gave a tremendous boost to this ongoing effort.

The entire college community, but most particularly SJC's faithful alumni, are to be congratulated for this truly outstanding success.

Volunteers raise money for the Capital Campaign at the March Phonathon.

First Spring Parents Weekend

The first Spring Parents Weekend was scheduled in conjunction with the Little 500 in order to make this event a special occasion for the parents. In addition to the go-cart race, the weekend featured a cocktail hour, prime rib dinner, dance, and a beer and brat concession.

During the dinner, five $1,000 prizes were awarded to the winners who subscribed to the annual drawing at $10 a chance. Two of the winners were longtime Parents' workers from Chicago, Mary and Pete Goschy, parents of Don Goschy '72 and Bill and Pat Loomis, parents of Colleen Loomis Cooke '77, Larry Loomis '78, and Jim Loomis '83. Two winners, F Leronimo and Ben Stein, both of Chicago, were friends of Board of Trustees member, Emil Babiarz. Annually, Mr. Babiarz, father of Julie Babiarz Lapatowski '76, sells in excess of $5,000 worth of tickets or one-third of all tickets sold. The fifth winner was Joseph Whalen, who was visiting with his son, a prospective student for 1984-85.

It takes many people to operate a concession, a bar for cocktails, a dance and the selling of tickets for the raffle. To all these people who gave so unstintingly of their time to make this weekend a success, the college extends its deepest appreciation.

Over 500 individuals attended Saint Joseph's fourth annual art show held March 30 - April 5 in the Halleck Center Ballroom.

SJC Hosts Fourth Annual

The show featured 450 works of art in three separate exhibits: a five-county high school competition, Saint Joseph's student entries, and faculty exhibits of recent work. Exhibits included all media: painting, drawing, sculpture, ceramics, textiles, printmaking, glass and photography. Certificate and cash awards were given for Best of Show, 1st, 2nd, and 3rd places overall, Judges Special Award, Best in specific media at each grade level, and merit recogni-

The purpose of the show is to promote art awareness at many levels, to give area high school students the opportunity to compete in a juried exhibit, and to expose them to the work of their peers from other schools.

Coordinators of the show, Sheila White, past president and founder of the Art Club, and Bonnie Zimmer, art instructor and moderator of the Art Club. feel that the 1984 show was the most successful yet. "We have tried to bring an even higher level of professionalism to the entire event with improved display techniques and attractive promotional materials," Zimmer

Coordinating the show is a 12-month task requiring solicitation of high school participants, locating qualified judges with diverse backgrounds, fund raising, planning and executing the exhibit. To raise funds for the event has included the offering of a limited edition of an original print for a minimum of $25. This year a woodcut by Thomas Woodward, a former SJC student and winner of the

In his present position, Cassell is responsible for the real estate activities of Merrill Lynch with the southeastern United States. During October, 1982 to May, 1983 he was president and chief executive officer of Merrill Lynch Realty / Townsend Company and during 1978-82 he was president and chief operating officer of Dunlop Sports Company.

Mr. Cassell spoke to classes related to Business Administration and Physical Education. In describing his experiences during his brief professional baseball career, he stressed that although it helped him in his business career, it also helped him to realize the importance of having an education with a professional career in mind beyond athletics. During his time in the minor leagues, he saw many young men waiting for a chance in the major leagues with little education and no direction in life nevond baseball. This prompted him to accelerate his plans to attend graduate school. In his career with Dunlop and Acushnet he said dealing with individual sports and marketing commitments to individual super-star athletes required good training and expertise in business. Professional sports have become big business with a lot of money at stake, Cassell said, and looking to the future he predicts that sports franchise owners will be businessmen first and sportsmen second of Trustees, a job he still retains. Music Program Expands Offerings

Rensselaer's Program of Church Music and Liturgy has expanded academic offerings for its 1984 summer session to include a new sequence of courses leading to a diploma in pastoral liturgy.

Father Lawrence Heiman, director of the Rensselaer Program, says this sequence responds to a need for pastorallyoriented liturgical studies for church musicians and others in liturgical leadership roles.

Musical expertise will not be required. The sequence will consist of 10 courses in liturgy and will require three summer sessions to complete. The Rensselaer Program already offers sequences which requires courses in both music and liturgy and lead to a master's degree, bachelor's degree, associate degree or a certificate in church music and liturgy.

Reduced tuition rates for summer school students are available. Applications and full details are available from Father Lawrence Heiman, Saint Joseph's College, P.O. Box 815, Rensselaer, IN 47978 (telephone: (219) 866-7111).

Scholarship Dinner Nets $40,000

The fifteenth annual Trustee's Scholarship Dinner held April 5 at the Ambassador Hotel, Chicago, netted $40,000 to be applied to scholarship aid during the 1984-85 academic year.

It is becoming increasingly difficult for the independent colleges to compete with the public institutions in tuition costs and the national and state support of students in independent colleges falls drastically short of need. The annual Scholarship Dinner is one method by which Saint Joseph's College helps deserving students bridge the gap in financial needs.

By action of the Board of Trustees, the fund was named the George S. Halas Scholarships in memory of Mr. Halas who served as Trustee member from 1956 until his death in October 1983. His daughter, Virginia McCaskey, received a plaque to memorialize her father who helped initiate the annual event and was a major supporter of the college.

A plaque was presented to Dr. Robert J. Garrity in appreciation for his 12 years of service to the college as Vice President for Academic Affairs.

Philip Wilhelm, General Chairman of the Capital Campaign and Co-Chairman of the Scholarship Dinner, was honored with a certificate from the Association of Governing Boards of Universities and Colleges acknowledging his nomination by Saint Joseph's College as Trustee of the Year and his faithful and dedicated service in helping to further the goals of higher education.

William Courtney, Trustee, became a President's Fellow with the presentation by Father Banet of the President's Fellow medallion and plaque. Mr. Courtney's entire family was present for the honor.

Each year the college honors at the event the top academically ranked male and female graduates. This year the honors went to three seniors. The top female honors are shared by Bridget Caston, B.A. in music, from Stow, Ohio and Beth Schroeder, B.S. in accounting / computer, from Ottawa, Ohio. The top male senior was Kenneth Schnipke, B.S. in psychology, from Ottawa, Ohio.

P.J. Abbott finished first completing 202 laps in the allotted four hours. Jenny Crawford and Mary Huffstetter combined to complete 197 laps for second place while 1983 winner, Tom Hull, and Mark Albrecht placed third and fourth respectively, with 191 laps each.

For the first time in five years weather permitted the Little 500 go-kart race to run the full four hours. Except for a few minor spinouts, this 21st annual marathon was one of the safest in SJC history.

The festivities got under way with the crowning of the Little 500 king, Mike Galiga and queen, Lina Chesak. Other members of the court included Theresa Brodeur, Lori Gosnell, Karen Clawson, Carol Helvig, Tim Miloserny, Mike Maltby, Dan Florenzo, Steve Jameson, and Larry Jacob. Jasper County Hospital administrator, Mr. Fuad Hammoudeh, served as grand marshal and the race began with 17 entries; only a few did not finish.

Puma Sports Mix

The college now sponsors eight men's varsity sports and six women's varsity sports: football, golf, men's cross country, women's cross country, soccer, volleyball, women's tennis, men's and women's basketball, baseball, men's tennis, men's track, women's track and softball.

Women's softball was adopted as the 14th varsity sport, ending with a 2-6 first season record. The outlook is bright thanks to the fact that this also was an underclass-dominated team.

The men's basketball team set two new records during the 1983-84 season: a single-season record for most free throws scored at home, 275 in 15 games, and a record for fewest field goal attempts in a road game, 38 at Indiana State-Evansville, connecting on 20 tries for a .526 rating. Junior forward Greg Martin was named 1983-84 most valuable basketball player. His 16.3 points per game ranked sixth in the GLVC and his 10.3 rebound average rated him second in the conference. Sophomore guard Matt Weber received the 110% Hustle award for a season during which he led in steals (65) and assists (135) and also ranked third in scoring and rebounds. Other special awards went to senior Mark Joines, Captain award, and the Hank Kressler Memorial Leadership award; freshman center Stan Kappers, top field goal percentage award, a 6.19 rating; and sophomore guard Brad Conner, team leader free throw percentage award, a .852 rating. Members of the junior varsity team voted freshman Rick Tolin as the Best Team Leader. The JV program resumed this season after an eight-year hiatus. The team had a 10-5 record.

The women's basketball team finished 13-14 overall and 3-7 in the GLVC. Sophomore guard Molly Horstman has been named the most valuable player, first on the team and third in the conference in assists. Horstman was also the Lady Puma's top free throw percentage shooter and was GLVC Player of the Week of March 3. Sophomore center Linda Wiesenhahn was named first team all GLVC, and junior forward Jenny Crawford was awarded second team GLVC honors. Crawford was also the Puma's leading field goal percentage shooter, top rebounder and GLVC Player of the Week of January 19. Freshman Judy Steward was named GLVC Newcomer of the Year. Steward led the team in scoring and steals and was second in assists. Other special awards went to freshman Jenny Nimtz, leading in blocked shots; senior Jill Burnett, the Richard Scharf Senior Achievement award; senior Mary Huffstetter, Team Captain award, and freshman Aimee LaMere, Attitude award.

Lady Puma's volleyball team had an overall record of 26-20 and finished third in the GLVC tournament, winning two invitationals. Senior Michele Quaife and junior Sharon Rosenow have been named co-MVPs for 1983. Quaife won both the Captain's and Spiking awards. Rosenow won the Serving award.

The women tracksters highlight Pumas' spring sports parade by making it the biggest day in the history of track and field for Saint Joseph's College. The Pumas posted a glittering 31-2 season record and rolled to the first-ever Little State championship. During the past two seasons, the women have compiled a cumulative 71-12 record. The team's .939 winning percentage is also the highest in Saint Joseph's athletic history, topped only by the SJC football teams of 1941 and 1942 plus a few Collegeville athletic squads from the pre-Depression era. The team's roster includes not a single senior to be lost via graduation.

Despite a 0-21 season record, the men's underclassmendominated track team steadily improved its competitiveness. Most of its runners will return to the team next season.

Saint Joe's baseball team showed early promise with a freshman-dominated roster and posted a five-game winning streak at mid-season finishing with a 9-26 record.

The men's tennis squad showed marked improvement by turning a 1-8 season of 1983 into a 7-6 campaign in

A last second touchdown boosted the SJC varsity football team to an 18 - 14 victory over the alumni in the annual "oldtimers' game" held March 3.
